SOVIET, CUBA CHARGES HEARD

More civil, military aid asked from UN to end Congo crisis

By Kumar Goshal

N THE UN Security Council three po-tentially explosive issues boiled up during the crowded week of July 18: • Cuba accused the U.S. of threats, intrigues, harassments and economic ag-gression and urged "necessary measures" of restraint.

UN Secy. Gen. Hammarskjold called . for far more UN activity in the Congo crisis, which he said had brought all Af-rica to "the turn of the road."

 Moscow sought UN condemnation of U.S. "aggression" in the case of the RB-47 reconnaissance plane brought down on July 1 by a Soviet fighter plane.

CUBA'S CHARGE: Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa told the Security Council that the U.S. has sheltered "war crim-inals, fugitives from Cuban justice [and] traitors to the revolution," and attempted to draw Cuba into the Cold War by calling it "a Soviet satellite" in order "to isolate and destroy the Cuban revolution, as was done in Guatemala in 1954, by inventing the same false story." Roa asked: "Is it necessary in order to preserve hemispheric unity . . . to lower one's head like a submissive bull to the butcher in the abactoir?" Referring to the sugar quota cut, he said: "Better honor without quota than quota without honor." He added: "The destiny of my country is today the destiny of all the country is today the destiny of my country is today the destiny of all the underdeveloped peoples of Latin Amer-ica, Asia and Africa. Cuba is not alone." Roa requested the Security Council "to adopt the necessary measures in keeping with the nature of the questions" he had raised.

U.S. chief delegate Henry Cabot Lodge denied Cuba's charges and deplored such language as "butcher" and "aggressor" about the U.S. Roa retorted that he did not like his country being called "a lackey of international communism." Lodge contended that Washington's cut in Cuba's sugar quota was not "reprisal" but was prompted by doubt about Cuba's ability to fulfill its quota.

OTHER VOICES: Latin American au-

AT THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

THE HEART OF THE MATTER IN THE CONGO "Independent" Congolese are herded through Leopoldville at gun-point by Belgian paratroopers thority Carleton Beals in the Nation (July 23.) however, called the new U.S. sugar bill authorizing the President to cut Cuba's sugar quota a "punitive sugar law." In another article in the same issue Washington newsman Stanley Meis-ler reported that there was opposition to the bill in both the House and the Sen-ate. He said that Rep. Harold Cooley (D-N.C.), for instance, contended that re-ducing Cuba's quota 'in reprisal against Castro constituted overt economic aggression against Cuba."

But Meisler reported that, when Rep. William Miller $(\mathbf{R} - \mathbf{N} \mathbf{Y})$ told his col-leagues they were either for Castro or against him and defined the battle as one between pro-Castro Democrats and anti-Castro Republicans, "Cooley had to retreat or face a charge of refusing to support his President in the struggle against international communism." In the Senate Everett Dirksen (R-III.) kept his colleagues in line by warning that the President "is quite insistent that he have a weapon with which to deal with the situation before Congress goes home."

The Security Council finally referred Cuba's charges to the Organization of American States by a 9-0 vote, with the Soviet Union and Poland abstaining. But the debate was only "adjourned" pending a report to the Council from the OAS.

THE CONGO ISSUE: For the moment, the Congo-Belgium conflict was the gravest threat to peace before the UN. Belgian troops still refused to withdraw until they were "convinced the Euro-peans were secure;" pro-Belgian Congo-lese leader Moise Tshombe of mineral-rich Katanga province demanded recognition of Katanga's independence and threatened "war" if UN forces attempted to enter Katanga; the central govern-ment of Premier Patrice Lumumba suffered from an acute shortage of food and medicine and of trained medical, technical and administrative personnel.

Hammarskiold told the Security Council on July 20 that UN forces in the Congo would be large enough by July 23 to maintain order and security and asked for "clarification of my mandate" on Belgian troop withdrawal which, he had stressed earlier, was imperative for peace in the Congo. He asserted without "any hesitation" that the UN considered Katanga as an integral part of the Congo. He reported that various UN branches

(Continued on Page 5)

nischfeger of Wisconsin, Generals G. E. Stratemeyer, Albert C. Wedemeyer and Bonner Feller, and Admiral Ben Moreell. A special "Youth for Goldwater" committee has been set up, claiming chapters in 45 universities and colleges. A new organization, "Americans for Goldwater," was formally launched July 7 to work during the Republican convention and continue permanently thereafter "to pro-mote the principles of Constitutional government which he espouses." Lest Sen. Goldwater be considered a fluke in the GOP structure it should be noted that he is chairman of the Repub-lican Senate Campaign Committee. The platform committee gave him an unusually rousing reception. Thomas O'Neil of the Baltimore Sun wrote (July 22): "A major objection among the party managers against throwing the Vice (Continued on Page 4)

In this issue A VISIT WITH UPHAUS De Gregory released . . p. 3 NEGROES TO CONGRESS A widened goalp. 5 'FREEDOM' INVESTIGATED A book review p. 6 EXCHANGES GO ON See the Spectator p. 8

Nixon's one-ring circus has two side shows

By Russ Nixon Guardian staff corresponden

CHICAGO VICE PRESIDENT NIXON was the master of the one-ring-circus Republican Convention that opened here July 25. Two side shows run by Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York provided the

The Washington Po -hurry it up." "Come on, come on-only color in the dull preliminaries. Even behind the scenes of the routine platform hearings the only questions were whether to match the strong Demo-cratic plank on civil rights and how to angle the Republican policy statement to appease Gov. Rockefeller and thus have a chance of winning New York's crucial 45 electoral votes. The civil rights issue was headed for a fight on the floor.

The convention got under way with as much life as one would expect from a combined conclave of the U.S. Cham-ber of Commerce, the Natl. Assn. of Man-ufacturers, the American Medical Assn., and the Committee for Constitutional Government. Labor representatives, the ADA and other liberal group leaders were present only for fleeting token presentations to the platform committee.

RIGHT-WING PRESSURE: The biggest rumpus was kicked up by Sen. Goldwater rumpus was kicked up by Sen. Goldwater and his ultra-conservative followers who have adopted him as their idol replacing the late Sen. McCarthy. They pushed him for both President and Vice Presi-dent, but their main aim was to bring extreme conservative pressure on Vice President Nixon and the platform com-mittee as a counter to the "subversive" mittee as a counter to the "subversive" influence of Rockefeller. Goldwater is opposed to the income tax, the minimum wage and hour law and social security, against any farm price supports, labor unions, and reciprocal trade. He would eliminate Federal action on civil rights and champions all the repressive legislation and witchhunting of McCarthyism.

On foreign policy Goldwater opposes all relations with the Soviet Union, would break diplomatic ties with the socialist world, and, with only thin disguise, favors a preventive war. He cold an applauding platform committee that "the Republi-can Party must determinedly maintain the most powerful military power in the world and must be willing to use this military power—and our economic power -to defend the rights of American citizens and to preserve American property.

NO FLUKE: All the old rightist groups active for Goldwater, and new ones being created for his support. Inare cluded are Pro-America, the Defenders of the Constitution, Wake-Up America, We the People, the Anti-Fluoridation League Northern Illinois Conservatives, Inc., etc. His active backers include Mayor J. Bracken Lee of Salt Lake City, Merwin K. Hart, Clarence Munion, Dr. Lee de Forest, Adolphe Menjou, Archibald Roosevelt, ex-Congressman Ralph Gwinn, industrialists V. Kohler and Walter HarN'ATIONAL GUARDIAN

For Rose Sobell

NEW YORK, N.Y. A group of Rose Sobell's friends are having a birthday party for her in Rockaway on Aug. 6. We know that there are many of her friends all over the country who love her as much country who love her as much as we do, and who want to tell her so. If you can't come to her party, send her a present and your warmest greetings.

We know that you don't have to be told that the best gift that you can send to this proud mother of a wonderful and cour-ageous son is money to work for his function. his freedom.

Please send your greetings and gifts to me. Checks can be made out to me, or to Rose So-bell directly. I'll be glad to send bell directly. I'll be glad to send you your invitation to the party too. We know that there will be tears in Rose's eyes when she hears from you, but they will be tears of happiness, not hurt. Margaret Blau 924 Broadway, Room D New York City 10, N.Y.

The after-life of F.L.H.

SEBRING, FLA. I had to laff when I read the letter of FL.H. about his friend dying and reviving and the fail-ure of his soul to go anywheres during the minutes he was dead. during the minutes he was dead. I'm in my 83rd year and I made that discovery 60 years ago. You tell FLH. to give me his name and address, and I'll give him free of charge some in-formation on these things that will make him jump higher than Kilrov's kite Will make Line Kilroy's kite. George R. Clements P.O. Box 366

LONG ISLAND CITY, N.Y.

To F.L.H. (whose friend died for 2 minutes): My smile for that day came from your letter. from your letter. Instead of suing the church, he should sue the anesthetist who drugged his soul into such a stupor that it was unable to leave his body and go to heaven. Arthur Krieger

Arthur Krieger MANNINGTON, W. VA. The doctrine of the immortal-ity of the soul is of pagan origin and goes along with that of eternal torment, also of pagan origin and likewise fake. Sherwin Toothman

Sherwin Toothman WHEATON, ILL. My advice to F.L.H. and all others is to read the Bible for themselves and not take the word of some one else who only knows what some one else has told him. Psalms 146:4 tells us: "His breath goeth forth, he returneth to his earth: in that very day his thoughts perish." Esther M. Winters

How Crazy Can

You Get Dept. WASHINGTON, July 23-The chairman of a House sub-The chairman of a House sub-committee investigating the withholding of information by the Executive Branch said today that the Pentagon stamped "secret" on enough peacetime documents each week to pile up a tower high-er than the Empire State building building.

One of these secret docu-ments, it was charged, con-tained a disclosure that "wa-ter runs downhill."

-New York Times, July 24 One year free sub to sender of each item printed under this head-ing. Be sure to send original clip with each entry. Winner this week: M.D., New York City

L'Envoi

BROOKLYN. N.Y. Fortune telling's against the law You can't tell a man what he's living for. If you spin a yarn way over his head

And tell what will happen after he's dead;

No license or permit for this you require, Go just as far as you may desire but listen—and this is last but not least: But Be sure to call yourself a priest. Veni Vidi

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

CARL STAMLITZ

Stamwitz, Steel Labor "Gentlemen, we're facing a bus-iness crisis. Our profits have returned to normal!"

MORA, MINN.

The United States is slowly The United States is slowly but surely setting up a police state comparable to Hitler's in Germany, and doing it in the guise of civil defense. Minne-sota is one α f the four states in which the system is being tried out out.

out. We attended a Farmer's Union meeting where the main speak-er was a civil defense teacher. He showed slides of bomb shel-ters and the destruction caused by the atom bomb blasts in Japan. Also, he explained bomb shelter plans for farmers and their stock—a bomb-proof barn for the animals and a shelter

Ten Years Ago in the Guardian

THE ENTIRE SOCIAL, political and economic structure of the Republic of (South) Korea is wrong. It is not a democracy. Rather it was a complete, full police state.

I can tell you honestly and truthfully that corruption and graft were everyday occurrences from top to bottom. The police department operated on it. The army operated on it. The ministries oper-ated on it. The government of Korea was systematically looting the Republic of Korea.

I took the position that I would not stay in Korea further and lend the good name of the American labor movement to anything as corrupt as that which existed. I think the public is entitled to know what the boys are dying for over there. That they are dying for the rotten Rhee government; that something should be changed. -From a Portland, Ore., radio interview with Stanley Earl, a former state CIO official recently returned from South Korea after service there as a Marshall Plan labor advisor, as published in the National Guardian, Aug. 2, 1950.

in the basement for humans.

When the alarm is given, from 15 minutes to three hours ahead, the farmer would get his stock into the barn, take shelter in his basement and all stay there for two weeks. What the man didn't explain was how the stock would be fed and watered during the two weeks. Every farmer knows he would not need to go to the barn after two weeks, as the animals would be dead.

This genuleman also wanted to start a class of 30 people on civil defense, so they would be trained to know what to do in case of bombs, torpedoes, floods and also to hold back crowds ond etco rists. This sounds yeary and stop riots. This sounds very much like a police state, as no one would be free to protest what the government was doing.

What the government was doing. The sheriff was with the civil defense man. I asked "Why does not our government work as hard for peace as it does for war?" I was told that it does, with civil defense and bomb shelters. One man said I was a Communist and should go to Russia, because I asked such a question question Martha L. Thelen

What women need

BRONX, N.Y. Women from 73 countries and territories, representing diverse organizations, national and in-ternational, met this spring in Copenhagen where, 50 years ago, delegates from several countries decided to celebrate, every year, International Women's Day.

As one of the American dele-gates to the Conference who heard the accounts of the reneard the accounts of the re-markable achievements in many countries, I suddenly realized that I had come from the richest country in the world, where 22,-000,000 women are working, and where there is no legislation ad-vancing the welfare of the work-ing women sud their families ing women and their families Appropriate legislation would establish clinics, creches, kindersartens, nursery schools, etc., and release women from the fi-nancial burden 'of illness, medi-cal and financial care (with full pay) during the pre-natal (2 months) and post- natal (2 months) periods. Effective so-cial legislation would establish the right to family allowances for each child and free medical care and drugs, build homes on a mass scale suited to modest incomes and provide in large housing schemes for social and cultural services to fulfill the desires of the women and the family. gartens, nursery schools, etc.

Country after country, whose economies and resources do not approach ours, reported these achievements and are ever mov-ing onward in these fields.

We are fast approaching elections for national and other offices introduce the Vancouver on the march

Last June, for the first time ince the Thirties, the unem-loved marched here in Vansince since the infrides, the unem-ployed marched here in Van-couver. I marched with them on behalf of my union, Local 16-601 of the Oil, Chemical & Atomic Workers, of which I am secretary.

Guardian Associates, Inc. 197 E. 4th St., N.Y. 9. N.Y. Telephone: ORegon 3-3800

CEDRIC BELFRAGE JOHN T. McMANUS Editor-in-exile General Manager

Editor-in-exile General Manager Editor EDITORIAL STAFF: Lawrence Emery, Kumar Goshal, Robert E. Light, Dor-othy Miller, Russ Nixon (Washington), Tabitha Petran, Robert Joyce (Art), David Reif (Art Library). LIBRARIAN: Jean Norrington. CIRCU-LATION: George Evans. PROMOTION: Norval D. Welch. ADVERTIS-ING and BUYING SERVICE: Lillian Kolt, GUARDIAN EVENTS: Theo-dora Peck. FOREIGN BUREAUS: Cedric Belfrage (London), Anna Bauer (Paris), George Wheeler (Prague), W. G. Burchett (Moscow), Anna Louise Strong (Peking), Narendra Goyal (New Delhi). Ursula Wassermann (roving correspondent). NORTHERN CALLFORNIA representative: Clarence Vickland, 3936 Canon Ave., Oakland 2, Calif. Phone: KE 3-7776. DETROIT representative: Ben Kocel, 140 Winona, Highland Park 3, Mich. Phone: TO 6-7523.

August 1, 1960 Vol. 12, No. 42 401

REPORT TO READERS

SUBSCRIPTION RATES: U.S.A. Pos-sessions, Canada, $5 a year. Latin America, $6 a year, elsewhere $6,50 a year. First class and airmail rates on request. United Kingdom 35s a year, payable to GUARDIAN London Bureau, 16 Talbot Sq., Lon-don W2, England. Single copies 15c. Reentered as second class matter Feb. 20, 1953, at the Post Office at New York, N.Y., under the Act of March 3, 1879.

JAMES ARONSON Editor

The mail that cheers

S UDDENLY THIS SUMMER-as has happened so frequently in our paper's lifetime-we found ourselves heading for financial shoals and had to call on our readers for help.

Summer or winter, the response was one of the readiest and most generous we have ever received, so much so that it will never be possible to print more than a sampling of the good wishes, expressions of concern and promises of further help which we have received in the two months since our appeals went out.

The biggest single response, by many fold, came with the following message:

"During the past winter I made a new will. In it, I made a bequest to the GUARDIAN of $1,000. Now I should like to send it to you at once, if you will agree with my proposition. At present I am receiving interest of 4%, or $40 a year on this sum. You will never be asked to return the principal, only to send the interest until my death. I am 87 years old.

"This bestowal of a 'legacy from the living' will not interfere ny way with my monthly 'Buck of the Month' contribution."

How else could our corporate soul respond to such a gift, except to say "Blessings, and long life!"

W HAT BETTER WAY to celebrate the Fourth of July, said a W Los Angeles letter, than to make a contribution "even if it is only a token one, to the one independent newspaper I can count on for honest reports of world events." A high school boy in Michel, B.C., wrote manfully that if the existence of the GUARDIAN is in way impaired "I will do all in my power to come to its rescue. any And from North Vancouver, another Canadian wrote: "I generally quote from your articles when I write to our Prime Minister."

From Chicago Peggy L. wrote that she really couldn't start the day without her GUARDIAN at hand, and illustrated the senti-ment with such elan that we made a line-cut of it for every-one's enjoyment. And from Englewood, Fla., Max Berndt-Cohn ex-pressed appreciation for our "expertness as journalists" and complimented us on our absolute absence of typographical errors.

"Your headlines are vital," he wrote, "your photographs telling, your caricatures pointed . . . All of this is most important. Form and content are no more separ-able than space and time."

W E GOT SOME KNOCKS, too. was what J. Parkhurst Douglass wrote from Tonasket, Wash.:

"The writer took subs for the Appeal to Reason in 1897 from Yakima Valley to Minnesota on a bicycle wheel trip-3,000 miles. Afterward took many subs for the American Guardian in State of Washington. Now in my

88th year am getting pretty damn tired of the stupidity of the NATIONAL GUARDIAN staff who do not seem to have sense enough to know that capitalism is thiefism. "Money is tight, but here is my renewal."

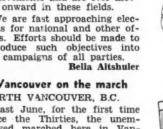

so to start the day?

On the other hand Carl Waters wrote from Cedar Springs, Mich.:

"It seems to me that the tone and character of your articles would indicate that your whole program is an indictment of capitalism.

A ND FINALLY, a note which said "Everything printed and sent out by the GUARDIAN is precious, even your requests for money.

So if we missed you with our letter (as we did if you are a newsstand reader, for example) why not write in and we'll send you a sample of what we wrote to evoke such a very nice commentary.

Barnyard alert family.

NORTH VANCOUVER, B.C.

secretary. The feeling is growing in the labor movement up here that we should break off such a close alliance with the American labor movement at least until the American workers dump the likes of Meany and his kind. When the AFL-CIO News comes into our union office it is read with amazement and shock.

A provincial election is in the offing; the Cooperative Com-monwealth Federation is being supported by the labor move-ment and should they form the next government, it would be a victory for the working class (provided enough left-wingers et elected).

J. L. LeBourdain

August 1, 1960

DE GREGORY FREED IN BAIL PENDING APPEAL

A visit to Merrimack County Jail

The following report of a visit to New Hampshire's Merrimack County Jail was written before Hugo De Gregory was released in $1,500 bail on July 19 pending his appeal. He had been sentenced to a year for contempt. The State Supreme Court decision ordering his release has no bearing on the case of Dr. Willard Uphaus, who has already served more than seven months of a one-year ditions in the jail are "deplorable."

By William A. Price Special to the Guardian BOSCAWEN, N.H.

DRIVING NORTH from Concord, a vacationing motorist skirts the crest of a gentle rise uphill from the Merrimack River. The farm country gives way suddenly to sweeping lawns on both sides of the two-lane highway. Beyond each lawn stands a red brick building of turn-of-the-century vintage. Sugar maples and tall elms shade the lawns. At each side of the road are small carefully kept gardens bright with white and pink petunias.

the right downhill is a 'ong re tangular structure, partly covered with ivy, with two rows of barred windows. There are two cupolas atop a high-peaked roof. This is the Merrimack County jail, Boscawen, N.H., (pop. 1,663). There is no wall, nor even a fence, around this building. But inside, under conditions hardly distinguishable from solitary confinement, are two First Amendment defendants: Dr. Willard Up-haus, who has been there since Dec. 14, 1959, and Hugo De Gregory, who was im-prisoned June 28, the fifth American to be jailed in recent months for resisting state or Congressional legislative committee witch-hunts.

FOCAL POINT: With the recent release of Lloyd Barenblatt, Dr. Chandler Davis and Paul Rosenkrantz from Federal prison, this small New Hampshire county jail now becomes a focal point of con-cern for civil libertarians.

The building housing the jail also con-tains the County House of Correction. Prisoners held here have the usual min-imum privileges, outdoor recreation, a common recreation and dining room, and regular assigned duties at the hospital one on the county farm whose neat whitepainted barns and outbuildings extend down the road from the jail.

A DIFFERENCE: But Dr. Uphaus and De Gregory live a different life. In the jail section of the same building, both occupy six-by-nine-foot cells, have access between 9 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. only to a narrow catwalk about 50 feet long in front of six identical cells. A deep well separates the catwalks from the outside wall of the building where there are heavy louvered prison windows through which they can dimly glimpse the outside world

Their cell doors are locked each after-noon by a clanking chain which controls all the doors on the cell block. They and other prisoners must eat alone—or at best with another prisoner on the same cell block on a common shelf along the catwalk. Visiting privileges, once fairly liberal, are now restricted to an hour a week for each prisoner, during which time he can see four friends. Prisoners here, most of them held only for a short time pending trial, are not permitted out of doors, nor the use of any indoor recreational facilities.

Dr. Uphaus has one break in his routine, a weekly trip across the highway to receive medical treatment for an old back ailment. Only at these times, Dr. Uphaus says, does he realize how stale and musty the prison air is inside.

VISITING DAY: These are the conditions along the highway beyond the petunias and the lawns and the ivy in the State of New Hampshire which has an article guaranteeing the right of conscience in its Constitution-and even one guaranteeing the right of revolution-and whose motto is "Live Free or Die."

This writer accompanied Mrs. Ola Uphaus to visit her husband recently and then also visited De Gregory. We talked to Willard—as so many others now also know him—behind upright bars and two thicknesses of quarter-inch wire mesh. Mrs. Uphaus, who this summer bears the responsibility for the World Fellowship Camp, 70 miles north at Conway, N.H., brought her husband two arm-loads of fresh vegetables and nuts, fruit and candy.

Willard sat behind the steel curtain in his prison blue denim dungarees. He looked well and his eyes have lost none of their sparkle.

Each had a list of priority things to talk about, including details about the camp, arrangements for speakers, news from their lawyers about a new Supreme Court appeal, hopeful plans for travel after Willard's release. They had a lot to crowd into a short half hour.

PRECISE TIMING: Then we heard the clatter of a gas-driven lawn mower outside the visiting room window. The noise made conversation virtually impossible. Willard's jaw tightened; the same thing had occurred previously precisely timed to the weekly visiting hours. But Ola leaned forward with her nose against the wire mesh and made a joke of the episode

Willard is still moved by the volume of sympathetic mail he receives and the growing protest, especially among relig-ious groups, against his imprisonment. He has received letters from every state. he says, and now arranges them alpha-betically by states and wedges them between his cell bars. One side of his cell looks like a Post. Oiffice, he said.

Visitors see the prisoners in pairs and I joined a young Massachusetts minister to visit De Gregory. This was De Greg-ory's ninth day and he told us that during this time he had seen another human being for an average of five min-utes each day when a guard brought him his meals.

LAW IN DISREPUTE: Later in the week Prof. Alexander Laing of Dartmouth College, one of the originators of the "Great

Church group acts for Uphaus T HE NEW HAMPSHIRE Council of Churches is seeking the immediate release of Dr. Willard Uphaus. The Council's executive committee has petitioned New Hamp-shire authorities to grant clemency "at the earliest possible date," citing the prison-er's age (69) and character, and the fact that he has already served longer than oth-ers who have been imprisoned elsewhere under similar circumstances. Dr. Unbaus on July 14 completed save months of a convergence servere programe. Power

Dr. Uphaus on July 14 completed seven months of a one-year sentence. Power to release him resides in the committing judge, George R. Grant Jr., of the Superior Court of Merrimack County.

Court of Merrimack County. Action by the New Hampshire Council is the second expression of concern by an important New Hampshire religious body. The Methodists there, at their annual conference in May, dealt with the problem raised by Dr. Uphaus' refusal and its con-sequences and suggested that the consequences under the circumstances "should be moderated by charity."

Issues" course there, author and lay ex-pert on New Hampshire law, spoke at the World Fellowship camp on "The Law in Disrepute, Who's Responsible?" Laing himself had once been invited to an informal conference by New Hampshire's Attorney General Louis C. Wyman, who is the state's one-man legislative investigating committee, and offered protection if he answered questions about the college and some of its faculty members. Prof. Laing pointed out that Wyman had probably initiated New Hampshire's Subversive Control Act of 1951 which empowered him to act singlehandedly as a legislative committee. After performing the legislative function of investigat-ing he could then as Attorney General a court order to hold uncooperative witnesses such as Dr. Uphaus and De Gregory in jail.

"Attorney General Wyman is—and I choose my adjective carefully—an evil power in this state," Laing said.

JAIL KEEPER TOO? A little checking indicates that Wyman, besides being legislator, prosecutor, judge and jury, prob-ably also performs the functions of jailer and is therefore also responsible for the intolerable conditions under which Dr. Uphaus and De Gregory are held.

We talked to James Treloar of Laconia, superintendent of the Boscawen jail. Tre-loar admitted that conditions at the jail were a little more rugged" than in other prisons.

Treloar was asked why De Gregory and Dr. Uphaus were kept as far apart as possible on opposite sides of the jail. He said he was guided by regulations and that these two prisoners were separated "for the protection of the jail."

TWO KIDNAPINGS COMPARED

DR. WILLARD UPHAUS Conditions are deplorable

NO PROBLEM: Treloar said both Dr. Uphaus and De Gregory were "very nice people" and "no problem whatsoever."

"If I turned both De Gregory and Uphaus outdoors at night," he said, "I'd have no concern about their being there

But, Treloar said, he was guided by prison standards set by the New Hamp-shire legislature. Asked who enforces prison codes and who determines policy within the law, he answered: "Attorney General Wyman."

Treloar confirmed that Dr. Uphaus and De Gregory were held under the same conditions as "maximum security" prisoners.

U. S. criticized for double standard in cases of Sobell and Eichmann

COMPARISONS of the Eichmann kid-naping with the FBI-engineered kid-naping of Morton Sobell from Mexico in 1950 have appeared in the letters-to-the-ditor columns of the New York Einst editor columns of the New York Times and Post in recent wasks. The Post print-ed a letter from Helen Sobell, Morton's wife; the Times letter was signed by Marshall MacDuffie, former chief coun-sel to the Senate Committee on Constitutional Rights, and Herbert Monte Levy,

MORTON SOBELL No reparations for him

former staff counsel of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Mrs. Sobell's letter stated in part: "In the Sobell case, the prosecutionafter itself arranging the kidnapingfraudulently used perjured testimony to prejudice the trial oy introducing evi-dence saying the Mexican government had deported Morton Sobell. The prosecution not only failed to notify the defendant that charges had been filed against him but also deprived him of the opportunity to return voluntarily to face charges, of which he was totally uncharges, of aware."

Noting elsewhere in her letter that "the Israeli government has no need to use the kidnaping itself to establish its case," Mrs. Sobell wrote that nevertheless it would "undo: btedly be raised as a major point in his legal defense."

"No violation of sovereignty of any country can be condonea," she stated.

OTHER ACTIONS: The MacDuffie-Levy letter to the Times said that the U.S., in siding with Argentina in the UN debate on the Eichmann kidnaping, "is now demanding of Israel a higher nobility than the U.S. Supreme Court's interpretation of our Constitution requires . . ." Citing the government's argument opposing Sobell's demands for a reversal of his conviction based on the kidnaping epi-sode, the two lawyers conclude:

"Now we have the U.S. saying that it may participate in the kidnaping abroad of a Communist spy for trial here, but that Israel cannot seize-without adequate reparations--one of the greatest mass murderers in history.

Other recent developments on the Sobell case:

• The Conference of American Rabbis, a reform group meeting in Detroit in June, passed a resolution asking a Presidential review of the Sobell case

• Ohio's largest union local, No. 867, Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators & Paperhangers, has urged the President to 'review again the facts in the Sobell case and take necessary action to secure ulti-mate justice."

• A similar resolution was passed in June by the 100,000-strong Minneapolis Central Labor Union Council.

NATIONAL GUARDIAN 3

1. 1

At the Republican convention

(Continued from Page 1)

Presidential nomination open for a free vote at the convention is the eminent likelihood that the choice would fall upon Sen. Goldwater'

'DRAFT ROCKEFELLER': Although not taken as a serious threat to Nixon's nomination, "Draft Rockefeller" forces are very active. A "Rockefeller Center" has been set up at the Chicago Blackstone Theater. A special press room is functioning at the convention headquarters. The Governor has held endless press conferences, appeared before the platform committee, made numerous TV appearances and sponsored a dance to which 3,000 people including all convention delegates were invited.

Most troubling to party professionals, the National Draft Rockefeller Committee released the detailed results of a public opinion survey in five key states which "shows conclusively that Vice President Nixon cannot win the Presidential election." The poll, conducted in New York,

"Seventy percent of the country's families have two incomes today—what's so strange about my wife working?"

Pennsylvania, California, Illinois and Texas just after the Democratic convention, showed Sen. Kennedy favored 2 to 1 over Nixon.

Gov. Rockefeller appeared as a "liberal" Republican to most delegates because of his advocacy of social security medical care aid to the aged as in the Forand Bill, his demand for a strong civil rights stand, and his emphasis on Federal government responsibility and spending for education, housing and maintenance of economic growth. Rockefeller criticized the Eisenhower-Nixon conduct of foreign affairs and called, as Sen. Kennedy does, for spending $3 billion more on arms.

NIXON STRATEGY: Although Gov. Rockefeller has adamantly turned down the Vice Presidential candidacy, the main strategy of Nixon and other party leaders has been to line up a Nixon-Rockefeller ticket. This has led to great constraint in meeting Rockefeller's attacks and a real effort to adjust the platform to attract the New York Governor. The Kennedy-Johnson ticket is viewed as formidable by the Republicans who believe they need the liberal tinge that Rockefeller would give their ticket. And it is recognized that the election may turn on the 45 electoral votes of New York and this gives Rockefeller great power and attractiveness.

The Republican Platform Committee hearings were cursory except for the division on the civil rights plank. For two days, July 20 and 21, eight subcommittees of the 103-member committee held simultaneous public hearings. As at the Los Angeles sessions, representatives of major organizations came to make their special pitch to the Republicans.

Roy Wilkins, chairman of the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights and exec. secy. of the Natl. Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, challenged the Republicans to match the Democrats' strong civil rights plank. He said: "A sturdy yardstick has been handed across from Los Angeles. Surely . . . the Republican Party will not miss this opportunity to make plain its commitments."

CIVIL RIGHTS RALLY: The NAACP held a "Pre-Republican Convention Civil Rights Rally" Sunday afternoon. Vice President Nixon was represented by Pennsylvania Sen. Hugh Scott. Other speakers were Rev. Martin Luther King, President of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, A. Philip Randolph, AFL-CIO vice president, and Clarence Mitchell, director of the NAACP Washington Bureau.

The rally was attended by 2,500 people inside and 3,000 outside the Liberty Baptist Church. Gov. Rockefeller led the roster of speakers. He said that he and Vice President Nixon were in full accord on civil rights, and then outlined proposals for guaranteeing Negroes the right to vote. "aggressive action to end discrimination in schools," equal job opportunities, National Labor Relations Board action against unions that discriminate in membership, "freedom to live where his heart desires and his means permit," and equal opportunity of public employment and access to public facilities.

Rockefeller challenged the Democrats, with their control of Congress, to put their civil rights plank into effect when Congress reconvenes next month. He added his support to a suggestion of Roy Wilkins by saying that "by cooperation of the right-minded members of both the Republican and Democratic parties we can get civil rights action from Congress."

KENNEDY RECORD HIT: Clarence Mitchell charged that the "heartless cynical attitude" of lawmakers outside the South, especially in the Middle West, was responsible for many civil rights defeats in Congress. He warned that Negroes had as much trouble in the Senate on civil rights matters with the Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen (Ill.) as they did with Democratic leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

Sen. Scott blasted Democratic Presidential nominee Sen. John Kennedy for having a bad record on civil rights legislation. He charged that "months ago Kennedy made an alliance with Sen. Johnson" to weaken the Civil Rights Act of 1960. Sen. Scott said the "strong Democratic civil rights plank" contains many items Kennedy and Johnson have voted against and that he will consequently ask them if they will change their votes accordingly when the Senate reconvenes on August 8.

PORTRAIT OF A MAN PRACTICING TO BE PRESIDENT Richard Nixon strikes a working pose on the eve of the convention

THE CHALLENGE: Sen. Jacob K. Javits (N.Y.) told the NAACP rally: "Our party cannot accept the advice of those who would have us bid for Southern votes through lukewarm support of specific Federal civil rights legislation. Civil rights legislation must be bi-partisan to pass, but it can only get the needed votes if backed by the support of a substantial majority of Republicans in Congress. An explicit and full platform declaration is a necessary basis for this result."

Sen. Kenneth Keating (N.Y.) challenged the Democrats: "I intend when Congress comes back into special session in August to test the Democratic platform in the Democratic Congress by inserting a 'be it enacted clause' in front of their pledges "

"The March on the Conventions Movement for Freedom Now," led by A. Philip Randolph and Martin Luther King, prepared to repeat its Los Angeles action by organizing a mass picket line around the Republican convention. A token picket line will be maintained around the clock until the convention adjourns.

Unionists and Villagers join march to UN against the bomb SEVEN UNION LEADERS have pledged their suoport to the peace parade organized by the New York Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy for Saturday, Aug. 6, to commemorate the 15th anniversary of the atom-bombing of Hiroshima. The unionists, including Morris Iushewitz, secretary of the New York Central Trades and Labor Council (AFL-CIO) and Anthony Mazzochi president of Local 149 of the Oil, Chemical & Atomic Workers, have been joined by religious, education and civic leaders and organizations.

The parade will be joined by a contingent from Greenwich Village, which will march up Fifth Avenue on its way to the United Nations. The Villagers will be accompanied by floats and folk-singers to dramatize the need for an adequate disarmament policy. The Villagers will meet the main body of marchers in Bryant Park in Manhattan at 3:15 p.m.

August 1, 1960

DETROIT LEADER URGES MORE REPRESENTATION

The goal: A Negro in Congress for every Negro majority district

By Ramona Lowe THE FIRST NEGRO ever elected to Michigan's State Senate is making a demand for Negro representation from every Congressional District with a Ne-gro majority. He is Charles Diggs Sr., former Democratic State Senator and father of Detroit's first Negro Congress-man. Diggs has called for three Negro Congressmen from areas predominantly Negro in Detroit. New York, Los Angeles, Baltimore, Cleveland, Chicago and Philadelphia should also have more Negroes in Congress, he thinks.

A similar move for New York City has already been started by the Leadership Conference called by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell. This group is also demanding more representation on all levels.

At present, although Negroes form the largest potential voting bloc in most of the North's major cities, there are only four Negro Congressmen. (Diggs sets 14 as the minimum goal for the country.) Gerrymandering, political maneuvering and bargaining are largely responsible,

ADAM CLAYTON POWELL New lines must be drawn

On the march and no force can stop her this is the only way they can have any guarantee of representation. Diggs is ar-guing this point in Detroit where there are 620,000 Negroes. In the First Congressional District, represented by Thad-deus M. Machrowicz, Diggs announced his support for Russell Brown, a Negro. Machrowicz immediately claimed that a man should be chosen for office on the basis of his qualifications, not his race, creed, nationality or color. Diggs replied simply that the Negro people feel a Negro in Congress can do a better job on Negro rights.

The outlook in other cities is not so hopeful. Los Angeles, with a Negro population of 400,000, has been trying fu-tilely since 1948 to elect a Negro Congressman. Rep. James Roosevelt represents a district largely Negro Newark, N.J., with a population one-third Negro, has elected a Negro City Councilman and two Negro State Assem-blymen, but the Congressional Districts are gerrymandered in such a way that it is almost impossible to get a Negro Congressman elected. Their only chance for Congressional representation will be through lobbying effectively in the state legislature for new district boundaries.

This same sort of pressure will have to be exercised in other large cities if the reapportionment due because of the 1960 sus is not going to scatter votes from the Negro ghettos into every other group's corner provocative actions by the U.S. Air Force

The Congo conflict was being used by white supremacist governments of colonies still remaining in Africa to deny freedom to the Africans. They argued that the Congolese's failure to learn to govern themselves even under "paternal-istic" Belgian rule demonstrated the Africans' inability to rule themselves and behave like civilized reople. The South-ern Rhodesian government has already used this excuse to arrest three top Af-rican leaders, precipitating police con-flict with 20,000 African demonstrators and 100,000 African workers on strike. Africans considered the argument spurious. They noted that Belgian rule had been ruthless, bloody and stifling, and punctuated by rebellions, behind a sleekly executed propaganda of "pater-nalism." Homer Bigart reported (New York Times, June 26) that the "Belgians tried to insulate the Congolese from the

NATIONAL GUARDIAN 5

NECRO UNIONIST

Coleman A. Young runs for Detroit Common Council Special to the Guardian

DETROIT

COLEMAN A. YOUNG, Negro trade union leader and an organizer of the Progressive Party in 1948, has declar-ed bis candidact for the P. ed his candidacy for the Detroit Com-mon Council. The election is Aug. 2.

A former secretary of the Detroit CIO Council, Young has the backing of lead-ers of the big Ford Local 600 of the United Auto Workers. Of 42 candidates for the council, he is the only one whose program contains planks dealing with peace and full employment, the exposure of po-lice brutality, adequate taxation of the rich, and an end to widespread discrim-ination against Negro and working class children by the Detroit Board of Education.

COMMITTEES URGED: A prominent Detroit clergyman, Rev. Charles A. Hill, has endorsed Young's candidacy. Rev. Hill said: "You have in the candidacy of Coleman Young a man who will speak out on issues like what a peacetime pro-gram could do to bring jobs to our city that has 150,000 jobless. He will lay bare the lawlessness of the Detroit police department whose brutality toward Negro and labor is notorious. He will oppose payroll taxes and advocate taxes based on ability to pay, which is just taxation. I urge that Committees for Coleman Yoing be set up in order that a great grass roots vote can be gotten out for him winds of change by refusing them exit permits" and that "after 84 years of tute-lage ... only 16 Congolese are Univer-sity graduates [and] the Congo has not even one Negro doctor, or lawyer or engineer."

NO RETURN: It was not surprising that the Lumumba-Kasavubu government of the Congo, which came to power as a result of last year's violent uprisings, found itself in difficulties at its incepfound itself in difficulties at its indep-tion. But they had the good sense to ask immediately for personnel assistance from such UN agencies as the World Health Organization and from African states that had become independent earlier. The contrasting behavior of the Belgian troops and African members of the UN forces in the Congo indicated the futility of trying to stem the tide of freedom in Africa. The Associated Press (July 19) quoted a Belgian soldier as saying: "The UN forces are a joke. They are also black." But a Moroccan captain said: "You cannot stop the course of history." And a Moroccan lieutenant add-ed: "Some colonial powers are incredible. Why can't they leave their colonies gracefully like friends?"

Portugal clamps down in Africa

LONDON

WHILE OTHER EUROPEAN POWERS recognize the African peoples' right to While OTHER EUROPEAN POWERS recognize the Arrican peoples fight to self-determination, Portugal is intensifying repression in Angola, Mozambique and Portuguese Guinea. Arrests in Angola during June (according to the Goa League, Portuguese colonial freedom group) included 52 Benguela Railway employes, the Luanda physician-poet Agostinho Neto, and the Rev. Joachim Pinto de Andrade, chancellor of Luanda archdiocese and the only African doctor of theology in the country, who was taken under escort to Lisbon.

country, who was taken under escort to Lisbon. "Native quarters" are closely guarded by police armed with machine guns, the Goa League reports, and all radios suspected of being tuned to Brazzaville or Leo-poldville are systematically destroyed. Constant raids and arbitrary arrests by the political police have created "a veritable reign of terror." Heavy troop reinforce-ments are still arriving from Portugal, and the London Times reports the imminent arrival of 20,000 more. The trial of 56 Angolese for acts against "the external secur-ity of the state and the unity of the Portuguese nation" continues behind closed doors before a military tribunal. doors before a military tribunal.

The Congo crisis (Continued from Page 1)

and the Intl. Red Cross were steadily sending trained personnel, and food and medicine were being airlifted by British, U.S., Soviet and Ethiopian planes. Never-theless, he added that he would need "much, much more" civilian and military aid from UN members.

TWO VIEWS: In a restrained and even conciliatory address, Congo's delegate Thomas Kanza said there had been atrocities on both sides and urged con-structive action to restore peace. He asked for withdrawal of Belgian troops and UN refusal to recognize the secession and independence of Katanga. He solicited technical assistance from all nations and especially from Belgium because of Belgian investments.

Belgian representative Pierre Wigny replied with a bitter denunciation of alleged assault and rape of Belgian women by the Congolese when Belgians had spent 80 years in the Congo "in order to spent so years in the Congo "In order to improve it, lead it to the level of a civil-ized nation" and then granted independ-ence "in a gesture of generosity." He said that Belgian troops were in the Congo solely to protect the "honor" of its citizens. He ignored the issue of troop withdrawal.

Kanza refused to be drawn into an altercation, but noted in a brief rebuttal that atrocities committed on the Congo-lese—both recently and in the last 80 years—were as deplorable as those com-mitted on the Belgians. He said the Congolese earned freedom through their own bleedy struggle and not through their own bloody struggle and not through Belgian "generosity," and if their admin-istration was not very efficient, it was as well as frequently successful attempts to convince the Negro that any demand for self-representation is nationalistic racist or just plain discriminating and therefore undemocratic. POWER STRUGGLES: Although the Negro is never included on a "balanced" slate-the group representation considered essential for a successful ticket—the importance of the Negro vote is never underestimated. It often serves as the winning support for a candidate who speaks loudly for civil rights, and it frequently plays an important role in political power struggles. The election of Manhattan Borough President Hulan Jack was the result of such a struggle.

It is now possible, because of ropulation shifts, that the Manhattan Borough President's job may remain a so-called "Negro" job. Negroes believe the court case against Jack is an attempt to discredit a Negro in the job so that it will revert to whites or in some way be whit-tled into a position less important.

PRIME TARGETS: Sore spots with New York's Negro voters are Brooklyn and the Bronx where there are overwhelming Negro majorities in some sections, yet no Negro representation. These areas will be prime targets in the political fights of the next decade. It was not possible to elect Adam Clayton Powell, New York's lone Negro Rep-resentative, until a Congressional District was carved out for the specific purpose of electing a Negro.

When a bill for a Negro district was first introduced in the New York State Legislature, Al Smith, then Governor, vetoed it as class legislation. It was brought to the floor again during Gov. Lehman's administration and met the same fate. Not until the Republican administration of Dewey were new lines drawn for a Congressional District that included as many Negroes as possible

THE ONLY WAY: Negro voters are always told they cannot be favored as a racial unit, yet it has been proven that because Belgian rule had blocked their progress

TIME LIMIT OPPOSED: During the UN debate. Britain, France and Italy harped on the plight of Europeans in the Congo and, together with the U.S., opposed the Soviet and Polish proposal for with-drawal of Belgian troops in three days.

Poland's Bohdan Lewandowski said that Wigny's attribution of Belgian troop intervention to a desire to protect the lives of Europeans would have been more appropriate at a segregationist meeting. since it was "unacceptable" to differen-tiate between human beings on the basis of racial origin or color. Soviet First Dep-uty Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov urged the Council to call for immediate withdrawal of Belgian troops in the in-terest "of peace and security."

Tunisian delegate Mongi Slim said that Tunisian delegate Mongi Slim said that "we deplore and sincerely regret" atro-cities against Belgians, "but these facts have not been verified by an impartial body" and Belgium's "honest" and "legit-imate" concern for its nationals "cannot justify the sending of Belgian troops to the Republic of Congo against the will of the government " the government."

UNANIMOUS VOTE: Slim presented Ceylonese-Tunisian resolution calling for speedy withdrawal of Belgian troops; maintenance of Congo's territorial and political integrity; (3) greater as-sistance by UN specialized agencies, and (4) a progress report by Hammarskjold. The resolution was adopted unanimously on July 21. On July 24, Lumumba ar-rived in the U.S. in quest of technical assistance. He thanked the Security Coun-cil "for its resolutions."

At GUARDIAN press time, the Secur-ity Council was still debating a Soviet resolution asking the Council to condemn

BOOKS

An investigation of 'freedom'

POLITICIANS keep the word "freedom" always on dis-play. Business men mention it in connection with money-mak-ing. Religious enthusiasts favor it for themselves, but are shy of providing it for their opponents. Intellectuals talk it, eat it, drink it, bathe in it. Since John Stuart Mill's essay On Liberty was published 101 years ago, free-dom has been a chief theme for authors and publishers. Here are some current outcroppings: Prefaces to Liberty.* edited by Bernard Wishy, collects between covers Mill's over-valued essay On Freedom, together with excerpts from Mill's letters, speeches and articles dealing with civil liberties.

The Limits of Freedom contains the substance of three lec-tures which David Fellman delivered at Puget Sound College: Religious Freedom in America; The Right to Communicate, and The Right to Talk Politics. Like all such officially sponsored lecall such officially special the pri-tures, they presuppose "the pri-macy of civil liberties in the constellation of human interests." More ardently, and with less dis-crimination than John Stuart Mill David Fellman presents "an exposition and defense of the basic freedoms without which life for us would not be worth living.

Herbert J. Muller, in Issues of Freedom, approaches the problems associated with freedom not as an advocate but as an analyst. Muller considers freedom "in relation to culture as a whole, not merely to the state." "My main concern," he writes, "has been the basic, not the immediate, issues of freethe immediate, issues of free-dom, and my main purpose an objective analysis, not a pre-scription or a call to arms." Such a scientific approach, the au-thor believes, has been made possible by "the vast deal of re-

IN MEMORIAM

Brian Woolley

FLAVELLE

Pilot

Killed in action. August 1st, 1943

in air raid on Ploesti

oil fields. Rumania

Cherished Memory Our Beloved

ISAAC STAMLER

Who departed from us year ago THE FAMILY search in history, sociology and anthropology undertaken and published duing the present century.

D^{URING} :ny many years of study in this field, Muller's approach is the most scientific and practical that I have seen After paying his respects to the many meanings attached to "freedom," Prof. Muller offers his own definition: "Freedom many his in this work will mean 'the condition of being able to choose and to carry out purposes.' This definition has three immediate implications: (1) the primary dictionary meaning—the ab-sence of external constraints; practicable purposes, or an actual ability with available means; and (3) a power of conscious choice, between significant, known alternatives . . . A man is free in so far as he can do something or choose not to do it, can make up his own mind, can say yes or no to any given question or command . He is not free in so far as he is prohibited from following his inclinations or is obliged to do something against his own volition . . . All these statements must, of course, be qualified. Man is always constrained by physical necessities, subject to natural law, and as he lives with his fellows he must always sub-mit the further action of the submit to further social straints." con-

MULLER recognizes the difficulty of making a dic-tionary definition that will cover the complex situations arising out of "the tangle of variable, immeasurable factors that make immeasurable to specify with pre-cision the kinds and degrees of freedom." Consequently, "the different kinds of freedom desired by different men and the need of accommodating and adjusting these different desires' freedom not a specific make reality, but an evolving concept, Men who claim the right to free-dom "become more deeply indom debted to many other men, liv-ing and dead . . . The very debted to many other men, liv-ing and dead . . . The very growth of freedom forces the question of what is right and good . . . No student of freedom can ignore these questions. . .

LOS ANGELES Unitarian Public Fore MARTIN HALL Who has just returned from Cuba, reports on "CASTRO'S CUBA AS I SAW IT" Friday. August 12 8 P.M. Adm. $1 Questions First Unitarian Church 2936 W. 9th St. L.A ATLAS OPTICAL CO. M. Franklin (Maury) Mitchell OPTICIAN 610 S. Broadway Los Angeles Wm. L. Flavelle Father MAd aite 405 MAdison 2-3530 QUICK SERVICE—LOW PRICES ark Free—1 hr., Pershing Sq. Gar. Park Free PROGRESSIVE OPTICIANS WM. L. GOLTZ and Staff 6225 Wilshire Blvd. Jishire Medical Arts Bldg. Street Floor

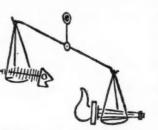

LOS ANGELES WEbster 8-1107 Between Fairfax & Crescent Hts.

He is obliged to consider its relation to such social needs as order and security." "For a historian," Prof. Muller concludes. "the most impor-tant freedom is circumstantial. It forces attention to the whole culture by which the self is molded, and thought about freedom is conditioned.'

Summarizing, the author sug-gests that "the noble ideal of freedom involves the possible ignoble idea of doing as one pleases, the presponsible idea of doing things just for fun. As the old ex-slave said, he liked freedom because 'there's a kind of looseness about it.""

PROF. MULLER'S epilogue assumes that the present prospects of freedom are uncertain because mankind now has the power necessary "to end the history of our civilization." The most obvious reason for uncertainty "arises from the revolu-tionary forces of science and technology, which have at once given us an unprecedented power and drastically limited our freedom of choice in futures. We bound to the conditions of are an industrial order."

Muller continues: "Immediately, the most dynamic political force in the world today is, of course, Communism. . . . Amer-ica, on the other hand, has become a world symbol of conserv-atism. While conserving rather half-heartedly the ideals of democracy, it has been more devoted to business as usual, and to high standards of aimless or irresponsible living. . . In the nation's capitol, an earnest re-cital of moral platitudes still passes for an effort at serious thought." In our Western tradition "men refused to attribute their discontents to 'defective human nature.' Instead they tion human nature.' traced them to a defective social order and they then set about to make over that order.

From such a brave beginning objective, clear, logical, scientific-the author at the end of his epilogue descends to senti-mental clap-trap. "The apparent restiveness in the Communist world also suggests the most obvious source of hope-the whole Western tradition of freedom and individualism. . . . If we

LIPPINCOTT'S PRIZE NOVEL

A trick of happy endings

S OMEWHERE in Marjorie Fischer—this year's Lippin-cott prize winner—lurks the shy belief that all's well that ends This conviction, rare in well. present-day novelists, must overcone the suspicion of many readers that nothing can turn out quite so well as it does in her novel, Mrs. Sherman's Summer.*

Mrs. Sherman is a strong-will-d German Jewish lady of 71, ed mother of one disagreeable son Joe, who is a member of the Stock Exchange, and of eight other male and female children nore or less directly dependent upon him for either employment, loans, or pleasure. Most of these and a few grandchildren, are in summer residence at her Long Island home; two are shown enjoying life in Europe.

ONE NEED NOT, in fact should not, be a moralist to describe the central relationship -that of his brothers and sisters to broker Joe-as parasitic. It is so in the one way that counts in such situations: in the matter of money. To sweeten this un-pleasant truth requires all Mrs. Fischer's resources of optimism and the considerable charm of the family. We should at least be sorry for those of them who are not attractive.

Lastly, a moral victory must be gained over the boor, Joe. That task is left to the old lady, who also manages to keep her favorite son in a job he hates by encouraging him in his hobby of restoring Persian miniatures. One may even hope that her prettiest daughter will break down the hateful bars of the local Hunt Club by marrying the mildly anti-Semitic stuffed shirt who had taken her there for tea.

THESE happy endings are a neat trick if you can swallow them. They are achieved by carrying no scene to its inherent climax and no implication to its conclusion. At times Mrs. Fischer's "drawing" reminds one of Katherine Mansfield, though her line is too thin. But to say, as does Clifton Fadiman in the Book of the Month Club News, that she recalls Jane Austin is only to point up the gap between the art of the novel and that of the vignette.

-C.H.

*MRS. SHERMAN'S SUMMER, by Marjorie Fischer. J. B. Lippincott Co., Philadelphia and New York. 254 pp. $3.95.

LOS ANGELES		NEW YORK
Dr. Edward Lam Announces the changing to his new 459 No. Forest Ave HOURS: Evenings and	of his part-time practice	FRANK GIARAMITA & SONS TRUCKING CORP. MOVING • RELIABLE • EFFICIENT • STORAGE 13 E. 7tb St. near 3rd Av GR 7-2457
Holidays By Appointment Specialist in Contact L TEL: ANgelus 2-1712 If	the Eastside	JACK R. BRODSKY ANY KIND OF INSURANCE auto, fire, burglary, life annuities,
INSURANCE for honest, competent counsel on ALL your needs consult BEN KARR ALBERT C. BRICKER & ASSOCIATES Complete Insurance Service	INSURANCE BY THE BOROUGHS and Associates Rube & Madeleine BOROUGH Julius & Florence KOGAN	accident, hospitalization, compensa- tion, etc. Phone: GR 5-3826 799 Broadway, N.Y.C. 3. (11th St.) CITY CAMERA EXCHANCE 11 John St., N.Y.C. (Between Broadway & Nassau) PHONE: DI 9-2936 It's Trade-In-Week. Terrific allowances given for old cameras toward new purchases. RESORTS
760 S. Park View St., L. A. 57 DUnkirk 2-7331 CHICACOANS OB SECURE PROTECTION: Phone LOU BLUMBERG HArrison 7-5496 INSURANCE FOR HOME OR BUSINESS - LIFE - AUTO - FIRE - HEALTH 330 S. WELLS STREET	5921 W. Olympic Blvd., L.A. 36 WEbster 8-9111 IN CHICAGO. Insurance-Every Kind Professional Service Plus Personal Interest LEON KATZEN 330 S. Wells Street, Chicago Harrison 7-5496	HOTEL CAPITOL Livingston Manor, N.Y. The Best Location For Your Vacation Modern hotel, all conveniences, boat ing, bathing, fishing, sports, lake or premises. Folk and ballroom dancing entertainment. Best food served. Livingston Manor 194

August 1, 1960

have any hope for a free society. we are obliged to assume its log-ical and moral responsibilities. ... Democracy grew up in this audacious heresy, and could not have grown without it."

....

-Scott Nearing

*PREFACES TO LIBERTY: Selected Writings of John Stuart Mill, edited by Ber-nard Wishy. Beacon Press. Boston. 367 pp. $3.95.

THE LIMITS OF FREE-THE LIMITS OF FREE DOM, by David Fellman. Rutgers University Press, New Brunswick, N.J. 144 pp. $2.75.

ISSUES OF FREEDOM, by Herbert J. Muller. Harper & Bros., New York. 170 pp.

August 1, 1960

50

ty,

og-

ies.

his

not ng

Y:

hn

er-

$8.

CE-

an. 144

by per pp.

S

vho

ust Joe.

dy,

her

tes bby

res.

her eak

10-the hirt

tea.

e a low cli-its

ch-

of her

the ews, 1 is t of

с.н.

ER.

B.

3.95.

A

57 ies, 188-1826 St.)

ic Id

85

CALENDAR

MINNEAPOLIS

10TH ANNUAL WORKER PICNIC AND REUNION. All day Sun., Aug. 14. Spring Lake Indian Mounds, on the Mississippi. Auspices: Minnesota-Dakota Freedom of the Press Committee.

ALTADENA

GUARDIAN	PAR	TTY
	A	ugust	7
	Sw	immin	ig
			er
	Spagl	A Sw Spaghetti	GUARDIAN PARTY August Swimmir Spaghetti Supp

Spaghetti Supper (Donation 75c) JACK FOX s p.m.

t p.m. JACK FOX speaking on USSR DURING THE CRUCIAL DAYS OF THE SUMMIT CONFERENCE and WHAT OF ANTI-SEMITISM IN THE USSR. (Mr. Fox speaks Russian and Esperanto. He will recount his con-versations with the people.) 2189 N. Altadena Dr., Altadena

NEW YORK

KOPPERSMITH FOR CONGRESS OR-GANIZATION, (Stuyvesant Town, Lower East Side, Greenwich Village), 8:30 p.m., Thursday, July 28, 141 E. 3rd St., Apt. 1-A.

PENTHOUSE "TRADING POST" PARTY Come imBibe, Buy and Barter at our Midnite auction. Plenty of refreshments, music and laughs. All for a good cause -TO FREE MORTON SOBELL. 9 a.m., Sat., July 30, Penthouse Rubinstein, 59 W. 71st St. Admission $1 without auc-tion item, 75c with.

An Extraordinary Documentary Feature in Color: "IN THE LAND OF THE SOVIETS" Fart 1: A travelogue of the USSR. Part 2: A song-dance and ballet festival Extra: "May Day Celebration" Plus: "Israel Today" Wed., Thurs., Fri, Aug. 3, 4, 5 American Theater CA 8-6875 238 E. 3rd St., Bet. B & C Admission 75c

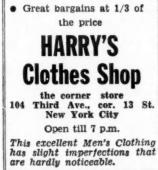

NEW YORK "ARTISTIC AND ENTERTAINING!" "GO TO IT NOW!" THE P PENNY CPERA

BRECHT - WEILL 55th ST. PLAYHOUSE etween 6th & 7th Aves. JU. 6-4590 at: 12:30, 2:25, 4:25, 6:25, 8:30, 10:30

Were sold at $50 to $75 them now for only to

$10

$15

CLASSIFIED GENERAL

GENERAL ATTENTION West Coast, progressive and prespective are now held which in most part re-sult in highly skilled rendition of lit-erature and poetry that conforms to the needs of the decadent classes of our country, lacking the essential of truth and sincerity and the higher form of art that arises from the struggles and aspirations of our people. Are you interested in creating some-thing better? Would you be interested in a progres-sive Writers Conference? If so will you write may thum would you sive Writers Cons... write me? W. A. Harju 3107 Greer Road Palo Alto, Calif.

PERSONAL

ATTENTION F.G.: What happened to our "Shangri-la" idea?-David Stry, Melbourne, Florida.

SEATTLE

Furnished home, near Seattle, for rent during August. Recreational areas near-by. Write: Box 111, National Guardian, 197 E. 4th St., NYC 9.

RESORTS

PINECREST in Berkshires, W. Cornwall, Conn., phone ORleans 2-8678 (NYC, MO 2-3003). A delightful vacation resort on the Housetonic River. Private sandy beach, swimming, fishing & boating, tennis, badminton, pingpong. Relax among Mt. greenery, great spacious lawns. Cabins w. priv. shower & field-stone fireplace, delicious food. Diana & Abe Berman.

BRIEHL'S, Wallkill, N.Y. 2 hrs. from N.Y.C. via Thruway. Scenic country. In-formal atmosphere. Wholesome Food. Home-grown vegetables. Private trout-stocked lake. Free boating. Swimming. Social Hall. Indoor-outdoor games. Folder. Phone Wallkill, Twinbrook 5-2214.

SPRING MT. HOUSE, Jeffersonville, N. Y Restful, beautiful surroundings. Home cooking. City improvements. TV, swimming on premises. Adults $40, chil-dren to 12, $25 week. Y. Schwartz. Phone: Jeffersonville 290 or NYC eve-nings OL 5-6971.

WHITE MOUNTAINS-Timms Lodge, clean quiet little place for the whole family to enjoy. Modern facilities, good food, sports and recreation. For informa-tion write: Mrs. J. Timms, Box 135, Wentworth, N.H. Tel. Rockwell 4-2544

ENJOY OUR VACATION PLUS: COME TO WORLD FELLOWSHIP, Con-way, New Hampshire, for a Wonderful Vacation—Aug. 1 through Sept. 5, Combine Recreation, Fellowship and Discussion at our Forest-Lake-Moun-tain Estate. Swim, Fish, Hike, Folk-Dance, attend Summer Theater, take Picnic Trips meet people from other lands. Generous for the state of the state lands. Generous family-style meals, board, lodging, program. from $5.50 to $8 daily. Special Family Rate. For details about our entire summer program, write: WORLD FELLOWSHIP, CONWAY, N.H.

RESORTS

Dear Max:

"What has Chaits got-aside from delightfully congenial people, 2 swim-ming pools, tennis on clay and all-weather courts, handball, volley ball, baseball, ping pong, billiards, ree-ords, an arts and crafts studio, folk and square dancing, stage and con-cert performers (Bhaskar, the re-markable Indian dancer Brooks Atkinson raved about in "Christina," folk-singer Elly Stone, pianist Leonid Hambro, cmic Bernie West, etc.) ... a professionally directed day for all nations, 150 scenic acres, a brand new air conditioned dining room and a new air conditioned building with luxurious suites?" Gee whiz, well, shucks ... we

Gee whiz, well, shucks . . . we have golf and horseback riding

CHAITS HOTEL Accord 1, N. Y. Kerhonkson 8316

BHASKAR, HAMBRO Return to Chaits in August!

There is only one HILLBERG FARM in the Catskills Its variations are highly appreciated by people with critical taste. It is up to you to find out why. Tel. Kerhonkson 8003 W, Kerhonkson, N.Y.

SUMMER RENTALS

Available in small colony nr. Liberty ONE or TWO-ROOM UNITS. Free gas, electricity, city water. Swimming on premises, nr. shopping. Good transpor-tation. Movies, summer shows nearby. Write to Lakchill House, P.O. Box 176, Parksville, N.Y., or call Liberty 1247M. CAMP LAFOND provides pleasant, relax-ing vacation at relaxing prices. $40 a week, $35 second week. Children under 12 at 2/3 rates. Write: R. T. Lafond, L'Annonciation, County Labelle, Quebee, Canade

CENERAL

AN INNOCENT MAN HAS BEEN IMPRISONED 3642 DAYS! Your dollars will help free him. Write, phone Comm. for Morion Sobell, 940 Broadway, N.Y.C. 10, AL 4-9983.

JOB WANTED

MAn, matured, various backgrounds, de-sires position in Manhattan. Full time, permanent, interesting work. Write Box 333, Natioal Guardian, 197 E. 4th St., N.Y. 9.

ECONOMIC ANALYST/RESEARCH - 1% years as trade union economist. Studying evenings for Ph.D. Desires work with labor or progressive organization. Write: Box 87, National Guardian, 197 E. 4th St., NYC 9.

COMPANION WANTED

Woman who was unable to join Guardian Cuba Tour seeks woman traveling com-panion, who can pay own expenses, for private Cuba tour during week of Aug. 8 to 14. Write: Box 500, National Guar-dian, 197 E. 4th St., NYC 9.

ROOM FOR RENT

Woman wanted for large, sunny, beauti-ful, furnished room with kitchen priv-ileges on Riverside Drive, $60 monthly Call after 6 p.m. MO 3-8577.

HOUSES FOR SALE

Cozy 2-bedroom bungalow, detached with full basement and fully equipped. Inte-grated Sheepshead Bay area. Single fare on BMT Brighton line. Price: $14,500. All cash, purchaser to arrange finance. Call ES 6-3084. cash, purc ES 6-8084.

ES 6-8084. Gracious, Colonial 3-bedroom home. 24 x 14 living room with fireplace. Formal dining room, sun-porch dinetie in spacious modern kitchen. Full attic and base-ment. 58 x 100 wooded area. Aluminum storms and screens, appliances, one and one-half baths. 30 minutes from mid-town NYC. $12,500 GI mortgage at 4½ % plus 6,000 cash will swing the deal. (Or refinance). All people welcomed. Lake-view, Long Island. Call RO 6-8254.

MERCHANDISE

LARGE SAVINGS ON MODERN FURNI-

TURE: Good modern furniture at low markup. Come in and see SMILOW-THIFLLE N.Y.C. 856 Lexington Av. CY 8-6010 White Plains: 41 Marmaroneck Av. WH 8-4788 Manhasset: 2046 Northern Blvd. MA 7-0444 Plainfield, N.J.: 311 E. Front St. PL 7-0111

HELEN'S CHINA OUTLET features factory irregulars, closeouts. Discounts up to 75% 304 Amsterdam Av. (bet. 74-73 Sts.)

HELEN'S GIFT MART Factory irregulars, closeouts. Discounts up to 75% 287 Amsterdam Av. (bet. 73-74 Sts.) Helen Milgrim, prop. TR 3-8060 3-speed ENGLISH BICYCLE Hand brakes, pump, tourist bag, $59.95 value for only $39.95. Standard Brand Dist., 143 4th Av (nr. 14 St.) GR 3-7819. 1-hr. free parking.

SERVICES

MAILING, PHOTO-OFFSET MULTIGRAPHING MIMEOGRAPHING Custom Letter Service 39 Union Square AL 5-8160

UPHOLSTERY CRAFTSMAN RE-WEBBING & REPAIRS - done in your home: Reupholstery, slip covers, drapes, foam rubber cushioning. Serving all boros. Fraternal attention. HY 8-7887.

IF TIRED OF MAPLE WE CAN MAKE IT MAHOGANY OR ANY OTHER COLOR. REFINISHING, REPAIRING, POLISH-ING FURNITURE IN YOUR HOME. ESTIMATE FREE. IN 9-6827.

FREE LIFE INSURANCE ANALYSIS Most coverage for least payment RENE M. SCHENKEE 420 Lexington Av., NY 17 MU 3-2837 Personal, business, fire, health, accident

'Zoo Story' at Chaits THE NATIONAL company of the off-Broadway prize-win-ning play, "Zoo Story," will per-form at Chaits Hotel, Accord, N.Y., Saturday, July 30.

NATIONAL GUARDIAN 7

THE REPUBLICANS, fighting shy of the Madison Avenue stigma for 1960, are setting up their own agency to be known as Cam-minded Nixon's broadcast with Checkers in 1952, and (wouldn't you know) a man from Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn, the Batten, Barton, Martin & Fish of FDR's satire. Agency men will be lent for the duration. Whether they, or anybody else, will be paid depends on whether the press, TV, etc., will pay 15% agency fees to a party campaign agency. . . The London Daily Mail reminds is readers that Nixon is "no chicken in politics—some say rather a hawk or a vulture"—and predicts the campaign will be "a mighty used be." The Mail hopes for the best: "Eight years ago the same soul-searching produced Dwight Eisenhower for the White House.

to turn off the convention!"

We can't afford a re-peat performance of that." . . . In a letter to the London Times S. de Madariaga says the American President is fast becoming president of a world community struggling to become a Commonwealth, and likens this world of na-tions to "a coach full of passengers traveling fast along a narrow road rich in hair-pin bends, driven by a man who every four miles undergoes a delirious blackout lasting for half a mile." He asks Amer-icans to amend the Constitution to elimi-nate a six-month lapse in leadership every four years. In leadership every four years. A WARM HOMECOMING greeted Dr. H. Chandler Davis June 29 at the Union Station in Providence, R.I., after spending five months in Danbury Federal Penitentiary for contempt of the House Un-American Activities Committee. A professor from Brown University led a reception committee of about 50 people. To his greeters, Davis, deeply tanned from working on the prison farm, said: "I represent a failure of modern penology. They turn out most of their inmates completely reformed. But nobody's perfect and they've muffed my case. I'm still doing my own thinking." Davis is associate editor of the journal of the American Mathematical Society. He was im-prisoned for refusing in 1954, while an instructor at the University of Michigan, to answer Committee questions about associations durof the journal of the American Mathematical Society. He was im-prisoned for refusing in 1954, while an instructor at the University of Michigan, to answer Committee questions about associations dur-ing his undergraduate years at Harvard in the 1940's. His wife, an instructor at Brown, and his children, a son 7 and a daughter 2½, were permitted to visit him every two weeks while he was in Danbury. When the family was united back home at last, Mrs. Davis explained to the little girl that her father would be "home sitting in his own chair every night" from then on. The little girl understood perfectly: "The guard won't take him away any more," she said . . . Back at Michigan, the Chinese student who hid out in a church for four years because he thought he was a failing student, has completed the first year of his resumed University career with a B average except for a flunk in French. He is a his-tory major . . . Stephen Bayne, the Long Island honor student who refused an American Legion award at his high school gradu-ation, as of July 6 had received more than 1,700 letters wishing him well. In reply he has written that the experience "has made me realize how wonderful are the people of our country." Matt Cvetic, FBI informer now lecturing on juvenile delinquency, told a Pasadena audience that a science of subversion which he calls psycho-politics "has invaded our movies, schools, churches and every section of American society." He blames the Communists. LOS ANGELES Parson Franklin Loehr, author of The Power of

LOS ANGELES Parson Franklin Loehr, author of The Power of Frayer on Plants (and a chaplain at the 1948 Republican Conven-tion) says prayed-for plants, or those in happy homes within earshot of lots of gay chatter, grow up to be much healthier specimens than those in orphan-like surroundings.

-John T. McManus

CALVIN FORD MOVING Good used furniture for sale. 645 Allerton Av. Phones: OL 2-6795 and 2-9033

TELEVISION & AIR-CONDITIONING UNIVERSITY TELEVISION SERVICE (Bronz, Manhattan, Yonkers) 150 W. Kingsbridge Rd., Bronz 63, N.T. CY 8-0420

RILL'S RADIO & TV SERVICE Written Guarantees - Itemized Bills Prompt - Reliable - Reasonable 266 Biecker St. Phone: WA 9-0613

MOVING AND STORAGE EXPERIENCED PIANO MOVERS Profit by my 20 years experience Call Ed Wendel, JE 6-8000 on any moving problem.

BUSSIE BROTHERS (Union Movers) Moving, storage local & long distance. We buy and sell new and used furniture. 960 Rogers Avenue, Brookyn. Phone BU 4-2988 (24 hours) or BU 2-3398.

TIME TO STORE YOUR FUE GAR-MENTS---if they are in need of remodel-ting or repairing, the best place is MAX KUPERMAN, 315 7th Av. For appt. phone OR 5-7773. You will also get good buys at $$ savings on new furs. COME IN AND BE CONVINCED.

HI FIDELITY SERVICE On Monaural and Stereo Equipment Installation and Repairs. Tuners Aligned. Weintraub IN 1-7459

BUDGET MOVERS & STORAGE: CH 3-7312. Station-wagon, vans-pickup serv-ice any time, any place-Insured. Esti-mates given.-Economical-PSC 859. WE MOVE YOU WITHOUT TEARS Economical, insured household moving Vans, station wagons—24 hours. 7 days Local, long distance—small, large jobs. THE PADDED WAGON—AL 5-8343

RED WAGON Moving, storage, packing, crating. Inexpensive, insured profession-al. Vang, trucks, station wagons. Any time, any place. RED WAGON SP 7-2555 PSC 768

For general use EACH CAPSULE CONTAINS:

iamin A (Fish Liver Oil) tamin D (Irradiated 5.000 U.S.P. units (Fish Liver Oil) 5,000 U.5 Vitamin D (Irradiated Ergosterol) 1,000 U.5 Phiamin HCI U.S.P. Biboflavin U.S.P. Bydosine HCI Carcium Pautothenate Ascorbs Acid U.S.P. Vitamin B-12 U.S.P. Fode Acid U.S.P. d apha Tocopheryl Acetate (Vit. E.) Equiv. to 3 I.U. Dit alcium Phosphate Anbyd. Nacinamide U.S.P. e Evron Sulfate Dried U.S.P. (Equivalent to 13.4 mg. Irot Postassium Iodide U.S.P. Murganess Sulfate Dried U.S.P. Coper Sulfate Dried CP Socium Molybdate 2-H-20 Coper Sulfate Dried CP Socium Sulfate CP Magnesium Sulfate CP Magnesium Sulfate CP Magnesium Sulfate Dried 1,000 U.S.P. units 3 mg. 2.5 mg. 0.75 mg. 5 mg. 1.5 mcg. 0.34 mg. 747 mg. 20 mg. 45.56 mg. 0.133 mg. 0.133 mg. 4.72 mg. 0.49 mg. 3.9 mg. 1.01 mg. 2.8 mg. 11.2 mg. 54 mg. 100 capsules, $2.50 undue stress or strain caused by worry or fatigue

STRESS FORMULA

EACH CAPSULE CON	TAINS:
Thiamine Hel. (Vn B-1)	10	mgm.	M
Riboflavin (Vit B-2)	10	mgm.
Ntacinamide	100	mgm.	M
Calcium Pantothenate	20	mgm.	21
Pyridoxine Hcl.	2	mgm.	21
Folie Acid	1.5	mgm.
Ascuruic Acid (Vit. C)	300.0	mgm.
Vitamin B-12
(Oral Concentrate)	4.0	megm.	н
Menadione (Vitamin K. Ana	log)	2 mg.
100 capsules, $5	50
roo capsures, 42
MULTIPLE VIT.	AMIN	a
In small, easy-to-swalle	w cap	sules	- Vi
EACH CAPSULE CON	TAINS		VI
	00 USP
	AA DEP	#Traife	Vi

Vit. A. Palmitate	5.000	USP UI	1119
Vit. D	500	USP U	nits
Vit. B-1 (Thiamine HCL)	3	mg.
Vit. B-2		2.5	mg.
Vit. B-6		0.5	mg. 1
Vit. C		40	mg.
Curcium Pantothenate		5 1	mg.
Niacinamide USP		20	mg.
Vit. B-12		2 m	icg.
Folie Acid		0.25	mg.
100 capsules.	$1.1	75	-

CH 0.6cc CONTAINS: 5000 U.S.P. (Irradiated Ergoster 1000 U.S.P. Vitami A Vitamin D Vitamin B-1 Vitamin B-2 Vitamin B-6 d-Panthenol Niacinamide Vitami 60 cc bottle, $2.25

VITAMIN - MINERAL CANDITABS

Choice of chocolate, cherry of both flavors mixed both flavors mixed Vitami: A Acetate 2.500 U.S.P. unite Vitamin D 250 U.S.P. unite Thiamin chloride Imm. Riboflavin-3-phosphate) 0.25 mgm. Vitamin B 12 Cyanocobalamin 3mcgm. Ascorbie acid 0.1 mgm. Vitacinamide 0.1 mgm. Caic. Pantothenate Imgm. Cobalt (from cobalt sulfate) 0.014 mgm. Gopper (from Pot. Iodide) 0.013 mgm. fodine (from Pot. Iodide) 0.013 mgm. Totas Kendur Pot. Iodide) 0.013 mgm. Totas (from Ret. Iodide) 0.013 mgm. Totas (from Ret. Iodide) 0.013 mgm. fodine (from Ret. Iodide) 0.013 mgm. fodine (from Pot. Iodide) 0.013 mgm. fodine (from Ret. Iodide) 0.013 mgm. fodine (from Ret. Iodide) 0.013 mgm. fodinese angane (from manganese sulfate) 0.028 mgm agnesium (from magnesium sulfate) 0.108 mgm nc (from zinc sulfate) 0.05 mgm

100 tablets $2.25

HIGH POTENCY MULTIPL VITAMINS FORMULA

For general vitamin deficiency EACH CAPSULE CONTAINS: Vit. A (Natural) 12,500 USP Units Vit. D (Irradiated Ergosterol) I,000 USP Units Vit. B-1 (Thiamine Hel) 5 mg. Vit. B-2 5 mg. 5 mg. 5 mg. 30 mg. Vit. B-2 Niacinamide USP Vit. B-12-Activity (Cobalamin Cone, N.F.) Folic Acid Vit. B-6 Vit. C Calcium Participant 2 mcg. 0.5 mg. 2 mg. 100 mg. 10 mg. 100 capsules, $3.25

Description of Item	Amount
	_
(N.Y.C. buyers add 3% sales ta TOI
Orders filled only in the U.S

Address Zone State City When ordering items in color, always specify second color choice.

NEWSPAPER

	For 35-yrolds and
	EACH CAPSULE CONTA
	Vitamin A 12,500 U.		Inits
	Vitamin D 1,000 U.
	Vitamin B-1		mg.
	Vitami B-2		mg.
	Vitamin B-6		mg
	Vitamin B-12 U.S.P.		meg.
	Vitamin C		mg.
nite	Niacizamide U.S.P.		mg.
nits	Calciun Pantothenate		mg.
	Vitamin E		mg.
mg.	Folic Acid, U.S.P.	0.5	mg.
	Dicalcium Phosphate,
mg.	Anhydrous	260	mg.
mg.	Cholin Bitartrate	31.4
mg.	Inositol		mg
mg.	dl-Methionine		mg.
	Ferrous Sulfate, Dried, U.S.P.		mg.
	Cobalt Sulfate	0.193
	Copper Sulfate, Monohydrate	1.257
	Manganese Sulfate, Dried	1.573
	Sodium Molybdate	0.253
	Potassium Iodide, U.S.P.	0.099
ar.	Potassium Sulfate	4.458
	Zine Sulfate, Dried	1.388
	Magnesium Sulfate, Dried	21.583	mg.

THERAPEUTIC VITAMINS With MINERALS

For people on restricted diets

n.	EACH CAPSULE
n.	Vi. min A	25,000 USP Uni
12.	Vitamin D	1,000 USP Uni
n.	Thiamine (B-1)	10 m
n.	Riboflavin (B-2)	5 m
23.	Niacinamide	100 m
m.	Pyridoxine (B-6)	1 m
n.	Vitamin B-12	5 mc
	Ascorbic Acid (C)	150 m
n.	Calcium	103.6 m
	Phesphorus	80.2 m
n.,	Iron	10 m
	Cobalt	0.1 m
n.	Copper	1 m
n .	Iodine	0.098 m
	Manganese	0.954 m
	Magnesium	5.56 m
	Molybdenum	0.17 m
E	Potassium	4.98 m
	Zine	1.4 m

100 capsules, $4.95 HIGH POTENCY THERAPEUTIC FORMULA

For run-down and convalescents EACH CAPSULE CONTAINS:

EACH CAPSULE CONTAINS: Vitamin A 25,000 U.S.P. units (Fish Liver Oils) Vitamin D 1,000 U.S.P. units (Tradi-ted Ergosterol) Vitamin B-1 10 milligrams (Thiamin Chloride) Vitamin B-2 5 milligrams (tithoflavin) Vitamin C 150 milligrams (Ascorbic Acld) Nracir.amide 150 milligrams

100 capsules. $3. HEMATINIC

ANTI-ANEMIA FORMULA

High in Iron, Liver & B-12 EACH CAPSULE CONTAINS: EACH CAPSULE CONTAINST Ferrons Sulphate Dried U S P 4.4 gr. (Equivalent to 57.5 mg. of iron) Liver Dessicated N P (Undefatted) 200 mg. Ascorbic Acid U S P 50 mg. Foltc Acid U S P 10 mg. Vitamin B-12 U S P 10 mcg. 100 capsules. $4

SINGLE VITAMINS

VITAMIN A Palmitate 25,000 USP units 150 capsules—$2.25 VITAMIN A Palmitate 50,000 USP units 150 capsules—$3.75 VITAMIN B-12 (Cobalamin 25 more

- 25 mcg 250 tablets - $2.50 B COMPLEX
- B COMPLEX 100 capsules—$1.95 VITAMIN C (Ascorbic Acid) 300 tablets $1.50 VITAMIN C (Ascorbic Acid) 250 tablets $2.25 BI-FLAVIN (Hesperidine 100 mg. 100 mg. 250 mg.

VIN (Hesperidine 100 mg with Ascorbic Acid) 100 tablets — $1.65 100 mg.

NATURAL VITAMINS

LECITHIN (From soy beans) 71/2 min 100 capsules-$1.25 ALFALF ALFALFA 250 tablets — $1.25 ALFALFA KELP 250 tablets — $1.25 WHEAT GERM OIL 100 capsules—$1.50 BREWERS YEAST 250 tablets - $1.25 GELATIN 71/2 gr. 10 gr. GELATIN 125 capsules—$2.25 ROSE HIPS (Nat. Vitamin C) 100 100 tablets — $1.75 VEGETABS (Contain over 20 varieties of vegetables) 00 mg. C 10 87 100 tablets - $1.50

NU-SWEET (Non-nutritional sweetener) ains sodium cyclamate and sed-1,000 tablets—$1.60

SPECTATOR 4 Friendly exchanges go on

MOSCOW E VENING PAPERS here recently carried a front-page item about a couple of hundred American territed a front-page item about E a couple of hundred American tourists, part of a holiday cruise who had just arrived for a quick look at Moscow before rejoining their ship at Leningrad. Nothing much in the way of news but a significantly friendly gesture to show that, despite all the hard words over spy planes and those who defend them, the Soviet Union is still for peace, friendship and coexistence. Normally the arrival of tour-ists from any country is never reported in the daily press.

Last month, American singer Roberta Peters gave the last of her concerts in Leningrad. She could only give four encores, because she was catching a midnight train. She took her last bows in her traveling clothes—and left for the railway station with 300 of the audi-ence escorting her and waving good-bye as the train pulled out. Leningraders or Muscovites or Ukrainians did not associate Roberta Peters with spy-plane champions or those who put American H-bombers in the air on a round-the-clock basis. While Roberta Peters was giving her final performance in Leningrad, Van Cliburn was giving his first in Moscow to a rapturously applauding audience. [On July 19 20,000 Russians jammed the Lenin Sports Palace in Moscow to give Cliburn a wild ovation. A thousand teen-age girls threw bou-quets to him after his first piece. When he finished, his curtain calls lasted a half hour.]

As for Isaac Stern, the American violinist, Sovietskaya Kultura, official organ of the Ministry of Culture, has written of him that "the warm reception and cordial ovations tendered to this musician by our audiences speak for the delight which they derived from his inspired mastery."

THESE SUCCESSES of American musicians, the spontaneous warmth with which they have been received during the stormiest days of the political crisis in Soviet-American relations, speak for themselves. Despite the hard feelings—and they are very hard indeed—toward those responsible for spy-plane policies, there is still nothing but the friendliest of feelings toward Americans as such. The group of GUARDIAN readers who recently toured the Soviet at the complete lack of any attempt towards identifying ordinary Americans with such policies, arriving as they did in the thick of the storm.

The general atmos-phere could not better be illustrated than by the experience of the New York impresario. Sol Hurok, who arrived here recently to sign up exchanges of Soor So-merican artists ensembles. The Depart new viet - American and State Department, it is true, had given him the go-ahead to sign con-tracts as if nothing had happened. Of the Soviet attitude, he was not at all certain. But he was received by the new Minister of Culture, Madame Ekaterina Furtseva who happens also to be a member of the Communist Party, within 48 hours of arrival and assured full cooperation. And Madame Furtseva stressed Soviet interest in hav-ing as many American artists in the Soviet Union as possible.

As a result of all this, Hurok has bagged planist Sviatoslav Rich-ter—a rare prize indeed. He will give at least 25 concerts, starting the end of October in New York, and will stay two or three months. Richter, who is 45 and usually regarded as the most brilliant Soviet pianist, is at the very top of his form at the moment and has been receiving almost ecstatic praise in the Soviet press.

Hurok has also lined up the Moiseyev dancers again and in return the Soviet public may see the American Ballet Theater or some other ballet group. A certainty is the young American pianist Byron Janis, and the Russians are interested in many more solo artists and ensembles. Within a few hours of the Richter visit being announced in the New York Times, Richter received a cabled invitation from Eugene Ormandy to play with the Philadelphia Symphony.

• NANCTHER more mundane question, Khrushchev has repeated that Soviet policy is not only for peace, friendship and coexist-ence as usual, but for more and more consumer goods as well.

At the moment British, American and German firms are competing for about $100,000,000 worth of contracts in newsprint, paper and cardboard plants alone. Not only is there no sign of cutting down on this consumer goods spending but every sign that it is being expanded.

The Russians, from Khrushchev down, have got their teeth firm-It is the first and the program and short of some maniac actu-ally pushing the button, which no one seems to believe in here—they ally pushing the button, which no one seems to the may. are going ahead with it. Let others do what they may. —W. G. Burchett

